

Safety First

There's nothing we wouldn't do here at Randall's to protect our home and keep our loved ones safe and sound. For this reason we offer top of the line window treatments with some of the most innovative safety features!

Strings, cords and chains are some of the most hazardous components of blinds. Because of this, our blinds can be made with breakaway tassels. You can also have a cord cleat or cord tensioner to anchor the strings and cord loops to the wall or window frame. Other options for superior safety would be retractable cords, motorized blinds, or even cordless blinds. Shutters are also an option to consider where safety is a concern, as they operate simply on hinges and tilt bars. Vertical treatments may also be made with safety in mind. With features such as traveling wands and gliding tracks, you can rest a little easier at night knowing that your home is that much safer!

Not only is safety a concern for those who are in the home, but what about keeping the home itself safe from those lurking outside? There is some new and innovative technology that is perfect for protecting your home from invaders during the day while you're at work or even while you're away on vacation. A selection of blinds can be made with sun and thermal sensors that automatically bring your blind up or down according to the position of the sun. This means that even while you and your family are on vacation, the blinds are still going up and down, deterring any intruders who might be watching your home.

Consider also this: the safety of your heirloom pieces that may be damaged by harmful UV rays. The above-mentioned systems will also help to keep your priceless items safe from sun damage, freeing you from any worry.

Let us at Randall's help you find the safety feature which best suits your needs!
